Let's Talk About

2008 Alpine Outing - Thanks Volunteers

Twenty four members attended this year's Alpine Outing the first half of August. We camped by a shallow picturesque lake surrounded by the jagged peaks of the Sawtooth Mountains in central Washington state. The flowers were outstanding in the many meadows that were interspersed with forest and peaks. The food was outstanding with tender steaks, green salads, fresh fruit and other foods not usually associated with camping 8 miles from a trailhead. Hiking was mostly on the well maintained trails but the area also allows for easy cross country rambling.

The Outing is a wonderful example of the Trails Club volunteer spirit. . Volunteers planned menus, compiled shopping lists, shopped, scouted out the location, hauled out the equipment from storage, packed the panniers, collected monies and kept lists. While in camp, everyone spend time with the cooking, clean up and water hauling chores. Special thanks are due to Virginia Fuller and Callista Dunn who are the Goddesses of mealtime; Joyce Rasmussen who kept track of applications, money and answered members questions regarding joining the outing; Walt Garvin, Randy Dickinson, and Paul Later who did most of the hauling, lifting, weighing and packing of equipment and food; Bill Kingsbury and Diana Forester who lead the two weeks and did the scouting trip.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

The spring at Nesika flows about 600 gallons of water every hour, year round, with a temperature of 45°? It never runs dry in summer nor freezes over in winter.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

October is a month for variable weather. We can still have warm, sunny days but the rains and chill can come at any moment. For hikers, it's time to check your pack for the "10 essentials*" and make sure you have rain gear and layers of clothing as well as a warm hat and gloves. Layers allow you to adapt to the temperature and frequent changes in weather.

Wear clothing that is fast drying and wicks moisture away from your skin. Synthetic materials like fleece and polypro are ideal for hiking shirts and pants. Cotton t-shirts and jeans lose their insulating value when wet and don't wick away moisture. Waterproof hiking boots will keep your feet warmer than trail runners. Leaders may turn away anyone who isn't properly dressed or equipped for the safety of the group.

Bring enough clothes to survive an overnight stay. You never know when an emergency might delay your return.

Sharing treats adds to the fun of group activity. You should always bring your own lunch and snacks on a hike, but why not bring something extra to share? You can show off your baking skills or test a new recipe, but treats don't need to be work: carrots, crackers, grapes, candy and nuts taste great on top of a mountain.

Carry enough fluids (water or sports drinks) for the day. It is important to drink fluids in cooler temperatures because your body uses more water keeping you warm.

Enjoy the beautiful autumn days on our Northwest trails.

Hiking Maps

Gravity College (<http://gravitycollege.com/>) techs have spent the last year meticulously digitizing hundreds of thousands of miles shown on USGS quadrangle maps and will continue to do so for some time into the future. To date, the Gravity College database includes every National Park, National Forest, State Park, State Forest, Bureau of Land Management Area, Wildlife Refuge and Grassland in the continental USA. Gravity College offers free access to all its topos for all registered users. You can search and zoom by trail name, park name, mountain name, or state. Every trail shows distance, elevation profile and difficulty score and a 3D flythrough function lets you digitally hike the trail. You can print unlimited free topos and trail maps.

Tidbits from the Past from the Trail Blazer, July 1935

July 20 & 21- Jefferson Park is one of nature's beauty spots. We will go in by way of Olalie Lake, which is in itself a beautiful trip. Register with Larry Upson, SELwood 0603

July 28 & 29 Saddle Mt. near Astoria, will be led by Melvin Becker. We leave Saturday afternoon. Register with Marvin Woolfolk, WALnut 7946.

The Building Committee has selected the site for the new dormitory and has cleared the ground and started excavating. A reliable carpenter has been engaged and will start operations as soon as the lumber has been delivered on the premises. You are urged to co-operate by having your money ready to redeem your pledges when the committee calls for it. If you have not yet bought a Bond, or if you wish to increase your investment, the Issue is still open. The Bonds bear 4% interest, and mature in 5 years.

The Lost & Found box at Tyee Lodge is overflowing! Items include coats, fleece, shoes, gaiters, ski boots, etc. Many of these items were left last winter in the drying room. Please claim your items by the October work party. The Trails Club is not responsible for items left at the Lodge. Permission to leave items is on a space available basis. Priority will be given to winter hosts and cooks. ALL items stored at Tyee will be in a container or bag clearly marked with member's name. Questions, contact Stephen Brown (360) 687-6169 ryanbrowns4@spiritone.com
